Dear Mom and Dad,

We got home about 7 PM last night and went to bed early so as to adjust to the change in hours. I felt fine today and am back to normal. It was very warm today; over 70 degrees and quite a change from California where it was windy and rainy the whole time. In Sacramento the wind was so strong we saw several very large trees in the streets. In San Francisco it was showery and not so bad.

The wedding was a lot of fun as it was Jewish and a new experience for us. We all attended services before the rehearsal and listened to a long sermon which sounded about like any other church. The Rabbi explained to us why we shouldn't pay any attention to Christmas and then wanted us to sing "America".

We stayed at Fisherman's Wharf in S.F. and Sunday Mike Strandberg and Bucky Llewelyn came up and we went out to dinner at Alioto's. Mike will graduate at the end of winter term and then work for a construction firm.

Monday night we went out to dinner with our newly-wed friends who were also in S.F. We hated to leave, but it did refresh us for school and work. See you later -
